

get involved

Dr. Roy T. Smoot Jr. is a regular volunteer on Habitat Choptank's construction crew in Dorchester County. Roy has continued to support Habitat's mission — to build homes, communities, and hope — both on and off the job site, at a time when it is needed most.

Roy and his children, Tom and Rachel, spent their down time amidst the COVID pandemic refurbishing an antique table to raise money for Habitat Choptank. The gorgeous table top was found at the Habitat Choptank ReStore and the new band board is made of cherry wood donated by John Burtman. The table is food compatible and has adjustable legs.

The reimagined vintage table will be on display and available for purchase at Reclaimed in St. Michaels during the month of December 2020. As Roy and his family demonstrated, there are many ways to support Habitat Choptank from the safety of your own home!

We want to challenge you to get involved. You can use your skills and talents to volunteer and get creative! Here's how:

- Reach out to our Development & Communications Manager with your contact information.
- Stop by our ReStore and let one of the managers know that you are there to select an item to "reimagine".
- Turn that piece into something amazing!
- Bring the finished piece back to be sold at the ReStore or in our next auction!
